

I am Rehan, a biotechnologist at Lonza Biologics PLC. Below is a chronological account of the events leading to my contacting Citizens Advice for assistance, focusing on the facts as they happened. All dates are approximate based on my records, and events are listed in order.

August 2025: I started employment at Lonza as a biotechnologist. I began performing tasks in suites with colleagues, such as pH adjustments and buffer preparations, without any issues noted.

Early September 2025: I reported a health issue via an in-house report to my plant manager.

Managers began exaggerating my absences as frequent, but no Occupational Health referral was made. I emailed colleagues for feedback, but received no replies.

Mid-September 2025: My line manager publicly noted my health-related appearance in front of technicians and operators, starting scrutiny. I continued tasks without issue.

Late September 2025: A colleague relayed health concerns, and my line manager linked this to my reliability. A supervisor reported me as unlocatable, reframed as lateness, though my breaks aligned with the team. I emailed colleagues for feedback, but received no replies.

Early October 2025: I disclosed my health condition to my line manager during a probation review. It was recorded in an unprotected Excel file. Probation was extended with high targets. I emailed a colleague for feedback, no reply.

Mid-October 2025 (pre-grievance): My line manager interrogated my personal conduct based on a colleague's comment, no OH referral. Manager 2 publicly shamed me for lateness in an open-plan office, questioning health. Excessive health questioning by managers and colleagues led to isolation. My line manager refused to investigate complaints and challenged approved off-site time and training. I contacted a crisis team due to work-induced exacerbation and emailed OH for referral.

15 October 2025: I submitted my formal grievance to HR, including the letter, log, and enclosures. I initiated ACAS Early Conciliation. I emailed IT/HR for evidence preservation and HR/Legal with the grievance pack.

Post-15 October 2025 (first incident): Worked in Suite 1; Colleague 7 handed me a list for stock items and shamed me for not recalling a "reducer" after two months. Later, Colleague 7 requested environmental monitoring; I expressed discomfort, leading to angry outburst in front of team.

Next day after first post-grievance incident: Arrived late due to insomnia from Colleague 7's behavior. Discussed with line manager, who referenced concerns from witnesses and questioned my suitability. Line manager followed up via email framing as informal coaching.

Following day: Worked in Suite 3; Colleague 2 mispronounced my name repeatedly, turning it into a spectacle in front of team and line manager, who dismissed my concern.

15 October 2025 (SAR): Submitted Subject Access Request (SAR) to Lonza, requesting health data, photo, and CCTV.

14 October 2025: Received first letter from Punter Southall Law requesting SAR clarifications.

15 October 2025: Replied to Punter Southall with clarifications, CC'd HR.

16 October 2025: Received second and third letters from Punter Southall, raising further questions and non-consent to AI use.

16 October 2025: Received grievance investigation conclusion email from HR with ~20 witness statements (some inaccurate) and request for hearing availability.

17 October 2025: Emailed HR accepting hearing on 20 October late, requesting redacted documents via secure share.

These events, including ongoing scrutiny and delays, led to severe stress, prompting me to contact Citizens Advice for assistance in handling the grievance, hearing, SAR, and data issues.
